HUSBAND'S ADMISIONS

Answer Filed This Afternoon in

Curious Divorce Case.— Johanna Sondheimer entered in court this afternoon an amended petition in her case against Joseph Sondheimer. They were married in this city June 16, 1887. Mrs. Sondheimer alleges that she was at all times a true and affectionate wife, and that her husband was at all times with her in love and affection, but that she was furnished with information for the society of immoral persons. His wife alleges that she was treated tenderly through an aggravated and upon her own admission, the wife being her children with her. The husband answers in answer admitting that he was good and true as a wife and mother, that she is in every respect a person to be entrusted with the care of her children. The husband admitted that he is able to provide for his family out of his business in a sum not exceeding $125 per month, and he is willing to pay the attorney's fee of $100.

ann, the Heas & Light Company's president; H. P. Brown, its Secretary, and H. Cunningham, a Director, were injured by an explosion. One of struck a match to see the gauge, and a leak. Gas and accumulated in the room and exploded when he lit the match. Two of the victims are in good condition and will probably die.

A Gravel Hooker.

No. 111, November 23.—It now transpired that the wreckage and spars sighted off by Capt. Gilmer of the Goodrich Cigar of Indiana is the foundered city of Lexington, was foundered by a boiler explosion. This vessel sank in 1800, in the waters of Lexington, and was found to have drifted easterly direction from Kenosha about six weeks ago. She was half loaded with a cargo of gravel, when a tern storm struck and foundered her. Three men escaped in a flatboat to the shore.

IRISH PRISON LIFE.
A WOMAN'S EXPERIENCE IN TULLAMORE JAIL DESCRIBED.

The indignities and cruelties William O'Brien will be compelled to endure—Picking Out—All Day, Long—The Prison Fare—Michael Davitt's Imprisonment.

"William O'Brien, M. P., has been removed to Tullamore Jail."

Such were the words which attracted my attention in the columns of the POST-DISPATCH and filled my brain with visions of the pleasant past; for it is known to you and my readers that Tullamore Jail is to me no mere incognita. I have passed through its portals, heard the clashing of the Warden's keys, had my pockets turned inside out, my name, religion, age and crime registered in the prison records; and, consequently, the details of the life of the prisoner for twenty-two hours out of each twenty-four of my sojourn within its gloomy walls.

I did not enter it as a visitor or an inspector, nor as an enterprising journalist come to make a tour as an experimenter. I was a bona fide prisoner, undergoing a sentence of six months' imprisonment under an absolute act of Parliament of the days of Edward III. In fact, which had been called from its grave by a magisterial Wiltch of Endor in an effort to subdue the irrepressible women of Ireland. For that purpose it was indeed a failure, but it served the end of giving more intimate knowledge of prison life, as seen from a prisoner's point of view, than often falls to the lot of a woman who never committed a crime. But let me tell you I came to be a prisoner.

On March 29, 1887, I arose from my breakfast table fully alive to the fact that I had taken my last meal outside of the prison walls for some time to come, for I had to appear before the magistrates in the little town of Clara, Kings County, Ireland, and submit to a trial for exciting discontent among the various classes of the most serious being to the effect that I had "endeavored to excite discontent in the hearts of Her Majesty's Irish subjects." I knew it meant the stealing of one summer from my life, and I was ready for my fate and had hidden good-bys to my children and packed my trunk with needed articles to be used during my enforced vacation.

Clara was soon reached. There was a great deal of excitement. Hundreds of men, women and children thronged around, making the air ring with their cheers as I alighted. A friend's carriage was in waiting with a fellow-member of the Ladies' Land League and accompanied by my counsel I soon arrived at the Court-house, where a trial for exciting discontent among the various classes of the most serious being to the effect that I had "endeavored to excite discontent in the hearts of Her Majesty's Irish subjects." I knew it meant the stealing of one summer from my life, and I was ready for my fate and had hidden good-bys to my children and packed my trunk with needed articles to be used during my enforced vacation.

The small Court-house was crowded to its utmost capacity, and four solemn-looking magistrates sat in a row ready to administer justice. One of them had won notoriety as the time-serving tool of the Government. The others were local notables—good, obedient boys who did what they were told.

THE HEAD PRISONER
was Henry A. Blake, who was rewarded for that and similar services by being made Governor of the Bannockburn Cheviots. He was made himself so unpopular to the natives that he had to be removed to Newfoundland. I had pleaded to be allowed to defend myself. It would have been cheaper, more amusing, more effective, and would have ended the matter for me, with the difference that I could have forced the justices to listen to a scathing "speech from the dock," for, as I told them at the beginning of the proceedings, it was not I who should be on trial for exciting discontent in the hearts of Her Majesty's Irish subjects, but the Government who were the cause of the discontent.

THE CRIMINAL'S UNIFORM
as perfectly as if I were melted in. I am in excellent health, and, as God will, I shall go through the programme at my dear ease, as I have no ill-effects from the exercise of my legs. In the morning we turn out to exercise at 7 until 8 and in the evening we have another hour. During the rest of the day I am in my cell picking cotton. They waste no time in commencing the sack-making yesterday, at which I would have to make twenty-four sacks a day, each sack weighing 100 lbs. by kicking them out of the cell, and have heard no more of the fellow who was the exception of the chief warden and governor. Both are unrepentant thieves. However, they keep away from me and give me none of the usual red tape. I am in good luck, for I am a good boy, and I am in good luck, for I am a good boy, and I am in good luck, for I am a good boy.

Three days of the week I consist of five ounces of brown bread, with half a pint of soup; two days, five ounces of bread and two ounces of soup; and on the other two days, five ounces of bread, with half a pint of soup. I am in good luck, for I am a good boy, and I am in good luck, for I am a good boy, and I am in good luck, for I am a good boy.

THE TRUNK LINE TROUBLE.
Yesterday's Meetings of the Presidents—The Reading Released.

New York, November 22.—The meeting of the trunk line presidents at Commissioner Pink's office yesterday, is generally considered the most important that has been held for a long time. There was no representative present from the Grand Trunk, although this omission did not represent a defiance by that road. General Manager Hickson wrote to Commissioner Pink yesterday, expressing his regret that he was unable to be present, and assuring him that he would be glad to meet him at any time.

As Mr. Hickson's letter related to the trunk line presidents, it was not a defiance by that road. General Manager Hickson wrote to Commissioner Pink yesterday, expressing his regret that he was unable to be present, and assuring him that he would be glad to meet him at any time.

CLEVELAND AND HIS WIFE.
The Former is Already Fat and His Helpmeet is Also Becoming Stout.

Washington Special to Indianapolis Journal.

Especially the ladies who have called at the White House during the past week have remarked the growing corpulence of the President and Mrs. Cleveland. They say that each has fattened to the extent of at least twenty-five pounds since the 1st of September and that the President has become really stout.

When Mrs. Cleveland was married she weighed a little less than 130 pounds, and owing to her height did not appear to be that heavy. There are those of her friends who have seen her during the past week who say she will still weigh 170; but those figures are a little high. She will not weigh 160, yet she is very near that mark.

The President's corpulence is not a new thing. He has been fat since he was a boy. He is not a fat man, but he is a stout man. He is not a fat man, but he is a stout man. He is not a fat man, but he is a stout man.

108 in summer and 104 in autumn. Here summer far exceeded winter, as it did also crimes with which violence and threats against officials, etc., were connected. The number for winter being 50 daily and 50 to spring, 102 to summer and 108 to autumn; of crimes against morality, 60 to winter and 60 to summer, and of assaults on the person and 54 to winter and 54 to summer. It would therefore appear that temperature has a great deal to do with inclination to crime. The daily number of petty robberies was 54 in summer and 52 in winter; of serious robberies, 12 in summer and 12 in winter; while the cases of receiving stolen goods numbered 7 daily in summer and 12 in winter. The relation borne by offenses against property was as follows: Summer, 103 daily; autumn, 102; winter, 96.

SCROFULA

Is that impurity of the blood which produces unsightly lumps or swellings in the neck; which causes running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the throat, or even on the face, or causes blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or "humors," which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. It is the most ancient of all diseases, and very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. If you suffer from scrofula, try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

ITCHING SKIN DISEASES

Instantly Relieved and Permanently Cured by Cuticura.

TREATMENT.—A warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a generous application of CUTICURA OINTMENT to the great skin cure. This is repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the blood purifier, and the itching will cease. The preparation is pure and unirritating, and will cure all itching skin diseases, whether it be eczema, tetter, ringworm, psoriasis, lichen, urticaria, scall-head, dandruff, or any other itching skin disease. It is a simple remedy for the scalp and skin when all other remedies fail.

ECZEMA ON A CHILD.

Your most valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES have done my child so much good, that I feel like saying this for the first time. My little girl was afflicted with eczema, and I was unable to get her any relief. I tried many remedies, but all failed. I then tried CUTICURA, and in a few days she was cured. I am now writing you to let you know that I am a happy mother again.

TETTER OF THE SCALP.

I was almost perfectly bald, caused by Tetter of the scalp. I tried many remedies, but all failed. I then tried CUTICURA, and in a few days I was cured. I am now writing you to let you know that I am a happy man again.

COVERED WITH BLOTCHES.

I want to tell you that your CUTICURA RESOLVENT is a most valuable remedy for blotches. I was covered with blotches, and after using three bottles of CUTICURA, I was cured. I am now writing you to let you know that I am a happy man again.

OF PRICELESS VALUE.

I want to tell you that your CUTICURA RESOLVENT is a most valuable remedy for blotches. I was covered with blotches, and after using three bottles of CUTICURA, I was cured. I am now writing you to let you know that I am a happy man again.

WEAK, PAINFUL BACKS.

I want to tell you that your CUTICURA RESOLVENT is a most valuable remedy for blotches. I was covered with blotches, and after using three bottles of CUTICURA, I was cured. I am now writing you to let you know that I am a happy man again.
